Remove the soil to a depth of 8 to 10 inches, loosen the bottom soil, spread bone meal, 5 lbs. to 50 sq. ft. and cover it one inch with top soil, then set the bulbs 5 to 6 inches apart each way and replace the soil.

LA VICTOIRE

HYACINTH
GLASS CULTURE

Fill the glass with water to almost touch the base of the bulb. Water evaporation will moisten the tiny root points and set them in action. Keep the glass in a cool dark place, on the floor in a cold corner of the basement (or similar place) covered with a box to keep them dark, add water occasionally to keep glass filled.

Bring them to light and warmth when the flower buds are three inches above the bulb, not before. To bring them out sooner may mean disappointing results.

HYACINTH GLASSES

Chilean Hybrids (Chilean Lily)

Clusters of lily-like flowers on long slender stems and highly prized for cutting. This is an excellent strain growing about 2 feet high and with varied colored combinations including shades of cream, through pinks, salmons, orange and some red. Roots planted in the fall will bloom next spring and multiply rapidly for increased bloom later. Plant in partial shade.

AMARYLLIS

Easy to grow and one of the most beautiful flowers for pot or garden. For a house plant put one bulb in a 5 or 6-inch pot, leaving the neck and upper surface of the bulb exposed. Where winter climate is mild, plant them in the garden. Our Amaryllis are California grown and the world's best. Each bulb will produce a cluster of large beautiful flowers atop a tall, sturdy stem. The colors are varied and fascinating.

AMARYLLIS BELLADONNA (Resurrection Lily)—Lily-like pink flowers in large clusters atop sturdy 15 in. stems. A great favorite in California where it thrives in a rich sandy loam and full sun or warm south exposure. Foliage grows during winter and spring, dies down in summer and blooms appear in the fall without foliage. It does best in dry soils where frost does not penetrate too deeply, so that the bulbs may be left in the ground all year. Plant bulbs just beneath surface.

Each 75c; 3 for $2.00; 12 for $7.50

ANEMONE

Very attractive flowers for garden show or for cutting. Plants are compact, about 1 ft. high and make an excellent showing when planted in groups of a dozen or more. Set the bulbs 3 in. deep and 5 to 6 in. apart, preferably in a cool moist soil. Where the winters are mild, plant in the fall; in cold sections, spring planting is better. These bulbs are large size for abundant bloom the first season.
